

EXTEND THE LINE.

From Augusta to Columbia. Thence
Via Laurens on up to Greenville,
Parr Shoals Power.

Columbia, S. C., April 27.—The announcement from Augusta that the contract for the construction of the Georgia & Carolina Railway, which is to extend from Augusta to Columbia, had been awarded was received with general interest by all Columbians. Business men of Columbia were delighted with the announcement and expressed the opinion that the new electric and steam line would mean much to both Augusta and Columbia as well as all cities and towns in Western Carolina.

There is a movement on foot to build a trolley line from Columbia to Greenville by way of Laurens. In that event Augusta would be given an interurban connection with the rich Piedmont section of South Carolina, which would mean much from a trade standpoint. The question of constructing the new line was discussed at a meeting of business men held here during the last general assembly. It is thought that should this line be constructed the power to be developed at Parr Shoals on Broad River, twenty-two miles above Columbia, will be used. The company is spending several million dollars and 27,000 horsepower will be developed. The interurban in this State is rapidly developing. Greenwood is now connected with Greenville and Anderson by an electric line, and work on the road from Greenville to Spartanburg is progressing. The road, it is said, will be eventually carried to Charlotte. Thus Augusta would be placed in connection with North Carolina cities by electric line. There is also some talk of extending the line from Greenville to Atlanta.

The preliminary survey for the Georgia & Carolina Railway was prepared by the Shand Engineering company of Columbia. It is very probable that the Augusta & Aiken Railway will be used from Augusta to Aiken. From Aiken the line passes through that county to a point on the Southern Railway near Ridge Spring. From there the Southern is followed to Columbia. The road will touch Batesburg, Leesville and Lexington.

Lexington, S. C., April, 27.—The announcement that the construction of the Carolina & Georgia Railway is now an assured fact, is received with considerable interest by the people of this county. Nothing could mean more for the advancement of Lexington, and this the people realized several years ago when they gave the right of way for the roadbed merely for the asking.

The line will traverse more than thirty miles through this county, passing through a rich, fertile country, and property values will be largely increased.

Postmaster in Spartanburg.

Spartanburg Herald.

The appointment of P. H. Fike as postmaster in Spartanburg is a happy issue out of the "postoffice situation." We congratulate Congressman Johnson upon his selection and the whole town is congratulating itself upon the prospect of having Mr. Fike in this important position.

First, Fike is a newspaper man, which means he is a student of human nature and a philosopher. He is popular with the people of Spartanburg from the lowest to the highest and his appointment will carry more genuine pleasure into the hearts of people everywhere than any selection Mr. Johnson could have made.

Second, Fike is efficient—in the modern meaning of the word. He does his work thoroughly and when he becomes postmaster he will be efficient and painstaking. And with it all he will meet the public with that serene smile that has made him, possibly, the most popular man in town.

Mr. Fike has been engaged in newspaper work in Spartanburg for 12 years, and is acquainted, perhaps, with more people in the city than any other man. His unfailing courtesy and fair dealing have won for him the esteem of all who know him. He was connected with the Herald for ten years before he accepted the position of secretary to Mr. Johnson, and returned to this newspaper only last Monday, giving up his desirable occupation in Washington in order that he might reside in Spartanburg, his home town.

Entertainment at Smyrna.

There will be an entertainment at Smyrna school on Friday evening next at 5 o'clock. A play entitled "Pondunk Limited," will be given and ice cream will be served. No admission will be charged. Everybody is invited. Miss Winton Agnew, Teacher.

The Rev. Dr. Phillips III.

Chester cor. Rock Hill Herald, 25th. Much concern regarding his health is felt here for the Rev. D. C. Phillips, D. D., the beloved pastor of the Associate Reformed Presbyterian church. He was granted a leave of absence by the officers of his church and first spent 10 days in Georgia, but has returned home and left for Baltimore where he will seek advice from some of America's most celebrated physicians. His indisposition is caused by nervousness. Dr. Phillips is one of the most able and eloquent ministers of this denomination. Prior to coming to Chester he held an important pastorate at Newberry. There is not a better loved man in all Chester than Dr. Phillips, and his absence, his many friends hope, will be a short one.

On the Commandments.

Through the Laurensville Herald Mr. Thos. M. Workman is writing a series on the ten commandments. In the April 25 issue appeared the best of the articles so far, as follows:

Third and Eighth Commandments.

The profane man that "curses and swears" must have a reason for doing so. Think of it. The preachers have denounced the habit for more than one hundred years, and are still preaching against profane swearing. Yet it is still here and plenty of it. It seems that preaching against this habit is almost a waste of time. If men are determined to curse and to swear profane oaths in the face of all this opposition, there must be a strong reason for it. And it may be that several reasons could be given and the reason that would apply to one man would not apply to another man. But yet there may be an underlying cause that would apply to most cases, and branching out from this all the other cases of swearing could be explained. I have sought examples in Bible characters and such as I find appear to indicate a disappointed grafter. That is the person wanted to give what belonged to other people and because he could not gain what was properly another person's, he must use profane cursing is resentment. I suppose that many who use profane swearing do so as a resentment for real or supposed injury. In some cases it is possible that the profane swearer may use the words unwittingly, not realizing that he is using holy names improperly. Probably we could not accuse such a person of being dishonest. But for some reason he is inclined to be reckless in the use of his own and other people's property. He is willing to throw away the holy name of God and in the same way he would throw away his and other people's rights or property. Within the past few years profanity has been held in check and since the profane man is taking a back seat, the man who cheats or outs extravagant prices on things is being called on to take a back seat too. It is probable if we could stop the profanity of holy names we would stop cheating, stealing, gambling and robbing. Stop the breaking of the third commandment and the breaking of the eighth would be stopped. Thos. M. Workman.

"The Oratorical."

The Newberry Oratorical association, consisting of the Chapin, Little Mountain and Prosperity high schools has made all arrangements to hold the second annual contest. The contest will be held at Chapin this year, on the evening of May 16. This is the most important event of the year among the three schools. The officers are: President, Pierre Scott, Prosperity; vice president, Leslie Jacobs, Little Mountain; secretary, Minnie Lee Shealy, Little Mountain; treasurer, Ninaligh Boland, Little Mountain.

A gift of $30,000 by James Sprunt to the authorities of the Union Theological Seminary at Richmond makes possible the foundation of a perpetual series of lectures by eminent men and scholars. The lectures will be preserved and published from time to time, thus giving the public, as well as the seminary, the benefit of Dr. Sprunt's generosity.

At a recent meeting of the rural schools committee of the National Council of Education, prominent educators declared that betterment of rural schools is the most pressing educational problem in the country today.

The city authorities of Berlin are enforcing new regulations which make it illegal to admit any child under sixteen years of age to any moving picture performance not specially arranged as a children's performance. The purpose of the step is to compel motion picture managers to pay more attention to purely educational films.

The Russell Sage Foundation, through its department of recreation, has sent letters to the heads of various State federations of women's clubs, urging them to begin campaigns to secure legislation authorizing the use of public schools for social centers after school hours.

The street duty and dog tax are now due, and they must be paid by the first of May without fail. After that date the penalty attaches and will be enforced.

By order of the city council.

Clerk and Treasurer.
